e2020, Inc. Selected as a 2011 CODiE Awards Finalist

Company nominated in the “Best Virtual School Solution for Students” category

Scottsdale, AZ (Apr. 18, 2011) – The Software & Information Industry Association (SIIA) has selected e2020, Inc., a leading provider of core and elective eLearning instruction solutions for students, as a finalist for the 2011 CODiE Award for “Best Virtual School Solution for Students.” The category recognizes educational solutions that deliver courses or degree programs online for tutoring, home-schooling, advance placement course work, credit recovery, additional instructional support, personalized learning environments, or college credit.

A leading provider of rigorous eLearning solutions, e2020, Inc., helps districts offer self-paced digital instruction for grades 6-12. Its courseware is aligned to Common Core, state, and national standards and has provided students with flexible credit recovery, credit accrual, and test preparation solutions since 1998. The only online eLearning solution to offer a web-based learning model featuring on-demand video lectures for every course, e2020, Inc.’s solutions provide customizable settings to allow districts to individualize instruction for every student.

“This recognition confirms our web-based model, unique teacher-led video delivery, and innovative instructional approach offer the most engaging and individualized eLearning solutions for public and private schools,” said Michael Humphrey, President of e2020, Inc. “We are honored the CODiE Awards recognize e2020, Inc., as a leading virtual school solution for students, whether used in traditional classrooms, blended or hybrid learning environments, or one hundred percent online virtual learning.”

The CODiE Awards, a peer-reviewed awards program, provides organizations in the education field with a unique opportunity to earn praise from competitors. Now in its 26th year, the CODiE Awards continue to raise the standard for excellence, serving as a prestigious representation of outstanding achievement and vision.
